We sincerely hope that this internship program, where you learnt new skills, understood concepts, had opportunities to interact with leaders, guided by mentors and formed new friendships - has been a memorable episode in your life as you embark on your career journey.

Having started this program in January 2020 and 15th May 2020 marks the end date of your formal internship. However, it is important to understand that your learning DOES NOT end with this internship.

Here are a few things to keep in mind.

WHAT NOW?

- Complete all (in-progress) learning by TODAY so that your learning status is recorded against the points you have earned so far.
- Your Cognizant ID will be suspended temporarily until you join back as a full time employee (FTE)

WHAT NEXT?

INTERNS ENROLLED IN GENC LEARN PLATFORM

- We would be migrating your GenC Platform (TT platform) access from Cognizant ID to your personal mail ID and will communicate this to your personal ID shortly
- Continue your learning, hands on, Quiz and assessments in GenC Platform using your personal mail ID
- Engage yourself in virtual learning until you join us as FTE

INTERNS NOT ENROLLED IN GENC LEARN PLATFORM

- Interns will be given topics to continue with the learning online.
- Webinar will also be conducted with prior information

What's in it for you?

- Your continued commitment to learning will ensure you are READY for business when you join us full-time
- Demonstrate your learning progress on GenC Learn to be considered for Priority Onboarding (based on business requirements)

While the virus battle rages outside, be smart enough to use this opportunity to sharpen your brain and learn something new every day.

Project Title – Creating an Object Detection Application Using TensorFlow

This is a MVP POC designed to extensive work with TensorFlow applications. This POC is executed on google cloud platform in a extensive power compute engine virtual environment we install on python environment on the same by using the Object Detection API library. Also this application is total all about developing a web application, where user will upload a image on web portal and our api that is using tensorflow in backend will detect an object on the same image. The object detection application uses the following components:

TensorFlow: An open source machine learning library developed by researchers and engineers within Google's Machine Intelligence research organization. TensorFlow runs on multiple computers to distribute the training workloads.

Object Detection API: An open source framework built on top of TensorFlow that makes it easy to construct, train, and deploy object detection models.

Pre-trained object detection models: The Object Detection API provides pre-trained object detection models for users running inference jobs. Users are not required to train models from scratch. we use five pre-trained models with the Object Detection API. They are trained with the COCO dataset and are capable of detecting general objects in 80 categories.
