1. Introduction

The Universal Human Values (UHV) Faculty Development Program is a valuable initiative that empowers educators to achieve both professional excellence and personal growth. The program provides deeper insights into ethical living, right understanding, and the importance of harmony at four levels — self, family, society, and nature. It encourages faculty members to promote mutual happiness and prosperity through responsible behaviour, meaningful relationships, and value-based education. Through interactive discussions and reflective learning, participants gain practical approaches to create a positive and inclusive learning environment. By integrating Universal Human Values into academic practices, educators can inspire students toward holistic development and socially responsible living. Participating in the UHV FDP is therefore an important step toward becoming a more compassionate, balanced, and impact educator in today's academic world.

Objectives

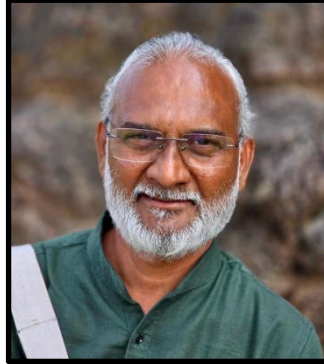

1. To introduce faculty members to the concept and importance of Universal Human Values in personal and professional life.
2. To encourage self-reflection and awareness about relationships, harmony, and ethical behavior.
3. To promote value-based education and the role of teachers in shaping responsible citizens.
4. To create awareness about harmony at the individual, family, society, and environmental levels.

Outcomes

1. Participants will understand the meaning and significance of Universal Human Values and relate them to daily life and teaching practices.
2. Participants will be able to prioritize among right understanding, relationships and physical facility ensuring mutual happiness and mutual prosperity.
3. Participants will be able to appreciate the importance of harmonious living and apply value-based approaches in academic and social environments.

2. NCCIP-AICTE Resource Team Details

1) Resource Person: Shri. Umesh Jadhav Ji

Shri. Umesh Jadhav (9823274899, jumesin@gmail.com)

Shri. Umesh Namdev Jadhav is a National Resource Person for Universal Human Values (UHV), dedicated to exploring and disseminating the proposals of UHV for understanding existential realities and harmonious living since 2012. He has made significant contributions toward promoting value-based education and holistic human development through a wide range of academic and institutional initiatives.

Sir holds a Master's degree in Tourism Administration from Dr. B. R. Ambedkar Marathwada University, Chhatrapati Sambhaji Nagar, Maharashtra, India.

He previously served as a faculty member at Gaeddu College of Business Studies and has conducted numerous Faculty Development Programmes (FDPs), workshops, student induction programmes, and interactive sessions across India and Bhutan.

At present, he contributes as a member of the National Coordination Committee for the Induction Program under the All India Council for Technical Education. He also serves as a Mentor for Universal Human Values for the Western and Southern Regions. Through these responsibilities, he has been actively guiding institutions, faculty members, coordinators, and students in establishing colleges as models of holistic and value-based education.

2) CO-Facilitator: Dr. Anita S. Mane

Dr. Anita mane has formerly served as Director of R M Dhariwal Sinhgad Management School in Pune.

She holds a Ph.D. in Commerce from Shivaji University, Kolhapur, and completed a one-year Faculty Development Program at the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad. With 28 years of academic experience, she has volunteered with Universal Human Values since August 2020 and currently serve as Regional Coordinator for the Western Region.

3) Observer : Mr. Sachin A. Shinde

Mr. Sachin A. Shinde is a dedicated English language educator and communication skills trainer based in Pune, Maharashtra, India. With a strong academic foundation, he holds an M.A. in English from Pune University and is currently pursuing both a Ph.D. in English from Mumbai University and an M.A. in Indian Knowledge System from Bhishma School of Indian Knowledge System, Pune. He has successfully qualified the State Eligibility Test (SET) in 2023, demonstrating his expertise in his field. As a faculty member in English Language and Literature, Mr. Shinde specializes in training individuals in communication skills, soft skills, and English language proficiency. Additionally, he serves as a Universal Human Values trainer, incorporating values-based education into his teaching approach. His professional aspiration is to secure a position as an Assistant Professor in English or Business Communication within a higher educational institute, where he aims to empower today's youth with world-class professional competencies through comprehensive personality development and soft skills training.

4. Day-wise Summary of Sessions

This three-day Faculty Development Program was conducted at MIT Academy of Engineering with National Resource Person Shri Umesh Jadhavji. The program aimed to introduce faculty to Universal Human Values (UHV), promote right understanding, and enable participants to apply value-based approaches across personal, family, social and environmental domains. Each day combined plenary sessions, interactive discussions, storytelling, and small-group tutorials (groups of ~20) to foster reflection and practical application.

Day 1 - 4 June 2026: Orientation, Holistic Development and Harmony in the Self

Learning objectives: Introduce UHV concepts, orient participants to the program structure, and begin reflective work on self-understanding, happiness and prosperity.

- Session 1 (8:30–10:30): Holistic development and the role of education; inauguration and program overview.
- Session 2 (10:50–12:20): Self-exploration exercises focusing on happiness and prosperity; guided reflective practices.
- Session 3 (13:20–14:30): Harmony in the human being; interactive presentation including the "Story of Stuff" to illustrate value-based choices.
- Session 4 (14:50–16:00): Continued exploration of inner harmony and practical implications for teaching and relationships.
- Tutorial (16:05–16:45): Small-group tutorial (~20 participants per group) to discuss insights, clarify concepts, and identify classroom applications.

Key Takeaways: Participants developed an initial framework for relating right understanding, relationships and physical facility to personal and professional well being. The day emphasized reflective inquiry and set expectations for deeper exploration in subsequent days.

Day 2 — 5 June 2026: Prosperity (Health) and Harmony in the Family

Learning objectives: Deepen understanding of prosperity with emphasis on health and examine family-level relationships (trust, respect and other feelings) that support mutual harmony.

- Session 1 (8:30–10:30): Recap of Day 1; discussion on prosperity with a focus on health, well being and their relationship to values.
- Session 2 (10:50–12:20): Harmony in the family — foundations of trust, sources of conflict and methods to build respectful relationships.
- Session 3 (13:20–14:30): Continued work on trust and respect; role-play/reflection exercises to identify practical steps faculty can model and teach.
- Session 4 (14:50–16:00): Exploring "other feelings" in family contexts and how value-based understanding resolves tensions.
- Tutorial (16:05–16:45): Group tutorials to consolidate learning, prepare short action plans for implementing UHV ideas in departmental/teaching contexts.

Key Takeaways: Participants connected concepts of prosperity to health and daily choices, and practiced techniques to strengthen family harmony which serve as models for institutional relationships.

Day 3 — 6 June 2026: Harmony in Society, Nature and Existence; Evaluation and Valedictory

Learning objectives: Extend value-based understanding to society and the natural environment, synthesize learning across the workshop, and conclude with participant evaluation and certification.

- Session 1 (8:30–10:30): Recap of Days 1–2 followed by a session on harmony in the society — roles, responsibilities and value-informed civic engagement.
- Session 2 (10:50–12:20): Harmony in nature — exploring human–environment relationships and sustainable choices grounded in UHV.
- Session 3 (13:20–14:30): Harmony in existence; integrative exercises to relate self, family, society and nature into a coherent value framework; program summation.
- Session 4 (14:50–16:00): Participant self-evaluation and reflection; presentation of learning outcomes and next steps for integrating UHV into curriculum and campus life.

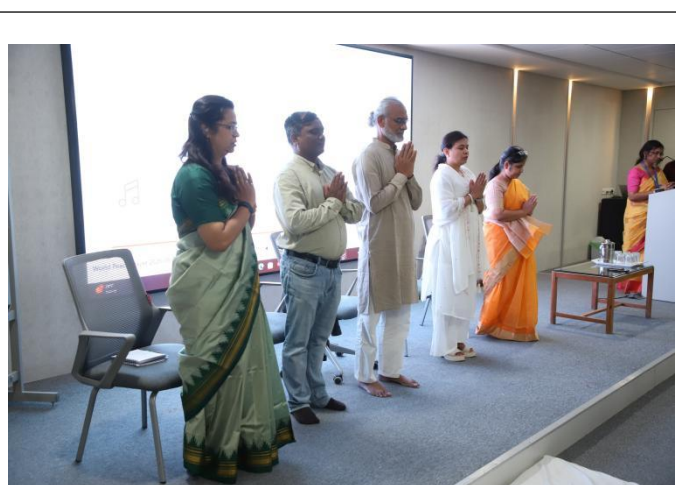

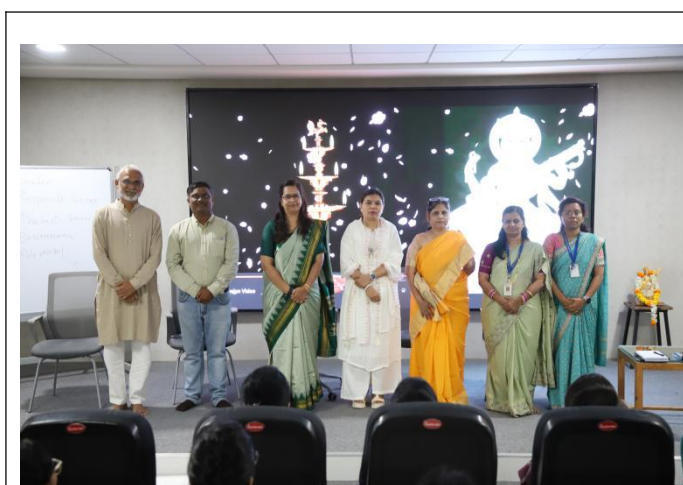

- Valedictory (concluding activity): Certificates, closing remarks, and formal closure of the program.

Key takeaways: The closing day emphasized applying UHV at institutional and societal levels and encouraged participants to adopt concrete steps for embedding universal human values in teaching, student mentoring and departmental practices.

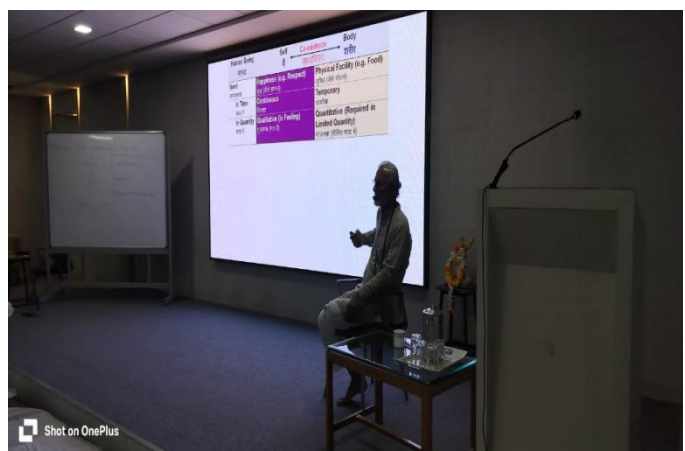

Assessment, Follow-up and Implementation Guidance:

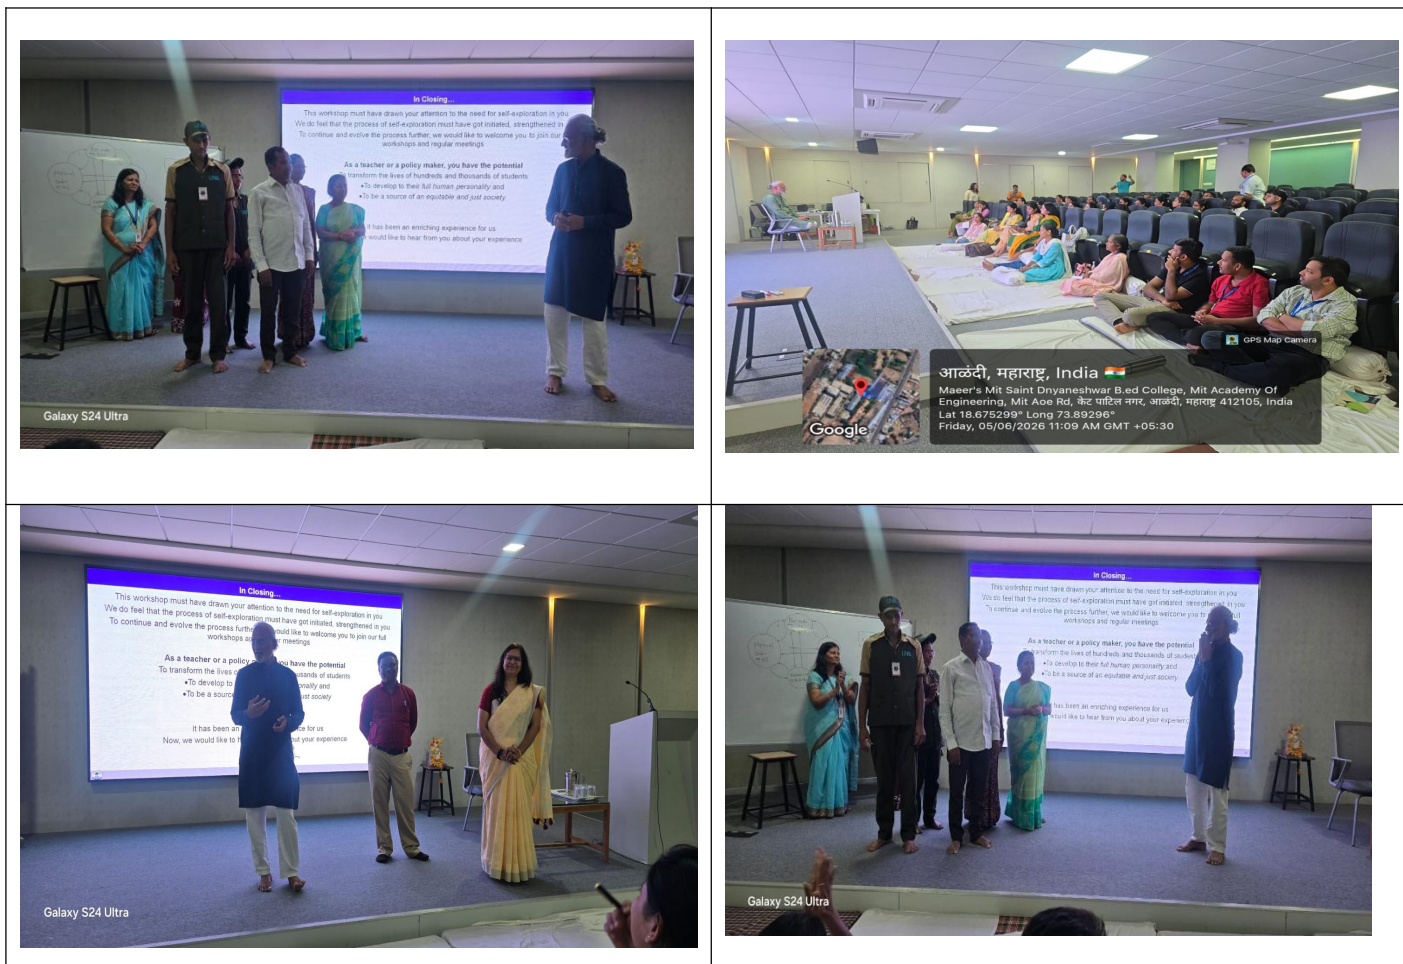

- Pre-Workshop Survey
- Everyday assignments submission
- Daily activities- reflection by participants, discussion during breaks
- Tutorial sessions in the groups were conducted during the ongoing FDP.
- Participants share their feedback and reflections on the last day during valedictory function.
- Thus, each day combined plenary sessions, interactive discussions, storytelling, and small-group tutorials (groups of ~20) to foster reflection and practical application.

Glimpses of the FDP

5. Participation Details

For the three days Introductory FDP on UHV, 59 participants registered among which 51 are from MIT Academy of Engineering and 08 from other institutes. Among them 51 participants were successfully completed the FDP. That were 46 people from host institute and 05 were from other than host institute.

Following are the details of the same.

6. Valedictory Function

On the last day of FDP, participants share their thoughts, experiences and their reflection on the content of UHV discussed in the introductory FDP. Dr. Sandeep Shewale, Head of the Chemical Engineering Department, represented administration of MIT Academy of Engineering. Sir was happy to listen about the FDP from participants, he appreciated the resource person of the program, content of the FDP and overall conduction of the same. Sir assured the kind support of MIT AOE administration for future UHV FDPs in the institute. Following are some glimpses of the valedictory function.

This FDP was a highly enriching and transformative experience. It helped me reflect on my beliefs, relationships, and life goals from a new perspective. The discussions and self-exploration activities provided clarity about human values and harmonious living. I feel more confident about integrating these learnings into my personal and professional life.

This FDP reinforced the points which I have been struggling with in my life such as learning to respond and not react.

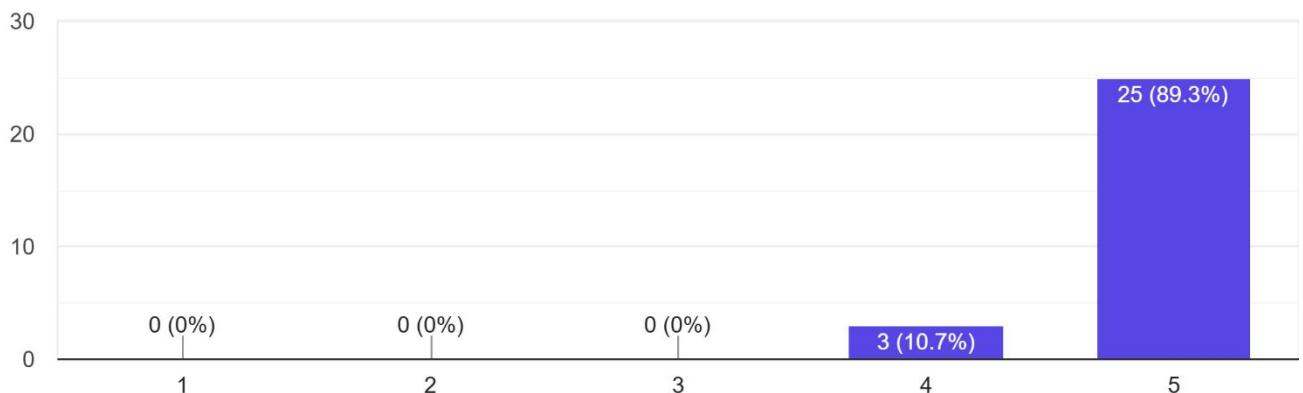

I started identifying the intentions of other before judging them.

The FDP was a highly enriching and insightful learning experience. The interactive sessions and expert guidance enhanced my understanding and encouraged me to explore new ideas. I gained useful skills and perspectives that I can apply in my teaching, research, and professional development. the FDP was informative, motivating, and beneficial for my academic growth.

FDP was really wonderful It explore the real defination of continuous Happiness. Right

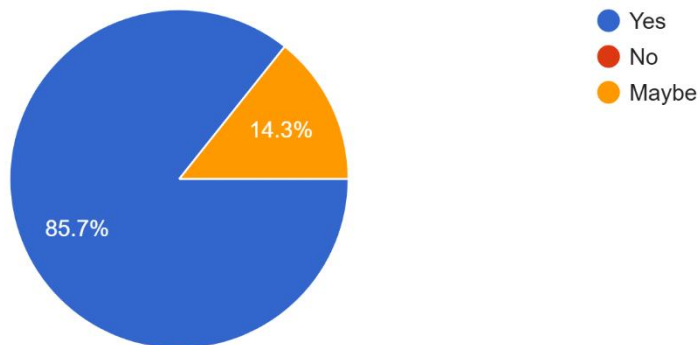

Overall, how would you rate the FDP?

8. Follow-up Action Plan

Currently we have,

i) A Student Induction Program (SIP) Committee for coordinating SIP annually.

A SIP Cell Coordinator is there with other staff. This committee takes responsibility for planning and conducting the SIP.

ii) UHV Cell is there for coordinating UHV-I, UHV-II and other UHV activities throughout the year.

We Ensure,

iii) We have a UHV cell coordinator and active members in it, henceforth, we ensure the weekly or biweekly UHV meetings for developing UHV resource persons etc.

iv) We shall plan to organize a weekly/ biweekly meeting of participants from your institution and nearby local institutions.

v) In near future. We shall make effort for developing into a UHV Nodal Centre for our region.

vi) We ensure, follow-up with those universities, colleges, institutions which expressed their interest in organizing FDP-SI.

9. Conclusion - Participant Involvement and Observed Changes

The three-day Faculty Development Program on Universal Human Values elicited strong engagement from participants, who approached sessions with curiosity and willingness to reflect on personal beliefs and professional practices. Across interactive lectures, storytelling, group tutorials and reflective exercises, faculty members actively shared experiences and openly discussed challenges related to teaching, relationships and well-being. Many participants reported enhanced self-awareness, noting an increased ability to identify personal values, manage emotional responses, and prioritize inner harmony when making decisions. At the family level, attendees described clearer communication patterns and a renewed emphasis on trust and mutual respect in their relationships. In classroom contexts, participants committed to integrating value-based examples, reflective prompts and empathy-driven activities into lesson plans to foster students' holistic development. Several faculty noted improved stress management and a balanced outlook toward work–life demands, attributing this to the program's focus on prosperity as well being rather than mere material gain. Group tutorials and peer discussions helped translate abstract concepts into practical strategies, leading to observable shifts in attitudes such as greater patience, active listening and collaborative problem-solving. Feedback and self-evaluations collected during the valedictory session highlighted increased motivation to model universal human values and to lead small initiatives within departments. Overall, the FDP catalyzed a measurable movement from theoretical appreciation to practical application, with participants leaving better equipped to nurture harmony at personal, familial, societal and environmental levels in both their personal lives and teaching practices.

About The Institute

MITAOE is among the select institutions in Pune to be granted 'Academic Autonomy' by the University Grants Commission (UGC), making it one of the few institutes recognized for academic excellence. This prestigious status is awarded only to institutions accredited with an 'A' Grade by NAAC. At MITAOE, we are committed to providing holistic education that nurtures the overall growth and development of students. The institute continuously strives to empower students with knowledge, skills, and opportunities, helping them shape a bright future and achieve their aspirations.

About UHV Cell

The UHV CELL of MIT Academy of Engineering is a multi-disciplinary group focused on developing right understanding and mutually fulfilling relationships in the institution and its stakeholders. It develops, coordinates and implements programs for the inculcation of universal human values as per university policy and guidelines.

Importance of UHV FDP

The Universal Human Values (UHV) Faculty Development Program is a valuable initiative that empowers educators to achieve both professional excellence and personal growth. The program provides deeper insights into ethical living, right understanding, and the importance of harmony at four levels—self, family, society, and nature. It encourages faculty members to promote mutual happiness and prosperity through responsible behaviour, meaningful relationships, and value-based education. Through interactive discussions and reflective learning, participants gain practical approaches to create a positive and inclusive learning environment. By integrating Universal Human Values into academic practices, educators can inspire students toward holistic development and socially responsible living. Participating in the UHV FDP is therefore an important step toward becoming a more compassionate, balanced, and impactful educator in today's academic world.
